Dear Linda,

We are having a housewarming party next Saturday. We hope you can come. Our new house is wonderful! There are three bedrooms: one for Ted and me, one for my parents, and one for the baby. My favorite place is the kitchen because it has a wonderful view. I can see beautiful sunset when making dinner. Ted loves the study room, which is big and with a bookshelf. The house is not perfect, though. The living room is not big and needs painting. But, it is just great for us. We love it.

I have more to tell you. I can't wait for your visit!

Love,
Rose

Dear Rose,

Congratulations!

I feel so happy for you. You have your own house now, isn't it great?

I am leaving for Brazil on a business trip this Friday and will be back next Thursday. So, yes, I can make it. I'll go to your housewarming party. I can't wait to see your new house, you two, and the little one.

By the way, do you need anything special for the new house? What are the wall colors of your living room and the dining room?

Look forward to seeing you!

Love,

Linda

Obesity refers to a medical condition in which a person carries too much weight or body fat that is harmful to his or her health. According to a warning issued by the World Health Organization in 2020, obesity has become a global health problem, and each year at least 2.8 million people lose their lives because of being overweight or obese. How does the problem occur? Scientists have found several causes. First, people nowadays often eat too much processed food such as fast food, cakes, and sugary drinks, which are rich in fat, salt and sugar. These unhealthy foods cause people to easily become overweight. Another problem is that even if a person cares about his or her diet, he or she may not exercise regularly enough. Without sufficient exercise, much of his or her body fat won't be burned off, which over time, leads to unwanted fat gain. Therefore, unhealthy diets and lack of physical activity cause people to become obese.

Obesity can also be understood historically. Our early ancestors often spent long periods of time looking for food. Fruit was easy to get which was sweet and tasty, so it became an important food source for them. Unfortunately, we also inherited their liking for sweet tastes. Later, they began to eat meat. Meat provided them with a lot of energy, so they didn't need to look for the next meal soon after. Though they liked meat and sweetness, they did not become overweight because they needed to hunt for meat; constant hunting used up a lot of their energy. Yet, everything changed after agriculture and machinery came into human lives. With these advanced techniques and inventions, today we no longer rely on hunting to feed ourselves, but we need other ways to burn off the extra body fat in our body.

39. What is this passage mainly about?
(A) Human lifestyles
(B) Causes of obesity
(C) Ways to deal with obesity
(D) Reasons for losing weight
40. Which of the following has the closest meaning of “inherited” in the second paragraph?
(A) discovered (B) ignored (C) received (D) wanted
41. Which of the following can best explain why our early ancestors did NOT have overweight problems?
(A) They preferred fruit to meat.
(B) They didn't like the taste of meat.
(C) They did a lot of hunting for food.
(D) They didn't eat anything that was sweet.
42. What can be inferred from the passage?
(A) People who watch what they eat will not suffer from obesity.
(B) Every year less than two million people die from being overweight.
(C) Obesity is related to how much body fat is stored in the human body.
(D) Human lifestyles became healthier as more modern technologies were invented.
